

Diagram illustrating a 1D CNN architecture. The input is a sequence of colored blocks (green, red, blue, yellow). A vertical dashed line labeled "filter1" indicates the first convolution operation. A second vertical dashed line labeled "filter2" indicates the second convolution operation. The output layer shows the result of the second convolution, which is a sequence of colored blocks.